WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Jerry Moran today announced that Jeff Smith of Lamar, Colorado is a congressional intern in his Washington, D.C. office.

"The internship program is a good opportunity for young people to get a better understanding of the federal government," Moran said. "I am pleased to have Jeff in the office."

A native of Lamar, Colorado, Smith graduated from Lamar High School with honors in 2002. He is scheduled to graduate from Kansas State University in December 2005 with a bachelor's degree in political science. Smith is on the Dean's Honor roll and is active in the Political Science Club and the Pre-Law Club. After graduation, Smith plans to enroll in either law school or a public administration graduate program.

"I appreciate this opportunity to learn more about the legislative process and the federal government," Smith said. "I will be using this invaluable experience when I weigh my options between law school or graduate school."

In the office, Smith will assist Congressman Moran and his staff with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas' First Congressional District.

Jeff is the son of Don and Kathy Smith of Lamar, Colorado.
